

Hey Where is the Sun?

We surely miss a lot of solar energy in Belgium lately... Yesterday at least, there was a very good reason to justify the lack of sun in our country ... It was all concentrated inside Thurn & Taxis, the place where the incredible 10 years' celebration of the Belgian women's wear line Mais il est où le soleil ? took place.

So, for the ones who did not attend, well, it's too bad, 'cause you have missed a rather rare occasion to see a fashion show and please your partner in life even if he or she is not that much into fashion.

Thanks to the dance, mime and trampoline performances, in addition to a poetical presentation of the collection, the show really was a SHOW which received a well deserved standing ovation.
